

In the Abstract:

On new page 14 following the claims, please insert the following abstract:

AUTOMATED SENDING OF PRECONFIGURED MESSAGES

Abstract

A control unit retrieves date information from an electronic data determination unit and first recipient related information related to a recipient from an electronic contact register. The control unit then effectuates essentially automatic sending of a pre-configured electronic message to the recipient based on the date information and the first recipient related information.